

ABSTRACT

Our project provides services to enhance our coding skills or to engage with other coder. The basic idea of this project is to provide coding information and to make connections or we can say that to be in the contact with other coders. here we provide two services first which provide information about programming languages, theories, algorithms etc and the other service provide a platform to be in the contact of other coders or to make connections etc. In the first service we provide information regarding algorithms, programming languages, question theories, data structures, placement sheets etc. whereas in the second service we provide a platform named coder's hub here you can see other coder's post, you Can Follow them they can follow you, you can search any coder, and here only coding post are to be posted not other than that so we by this create a great environment of coding.
